

Asadauskaite wins final gold

Lithuania's Laura Asadauskaite claimed the final gold medal of the London 2012 Olympic Games with victory in the women's Modern Pentathlon competition.

Samantha Murray finished second to pick up the silver medal and maintain Great Britain's record of having won a Modern Pentathlon medal at every Games since the women's event was introduced to the programme in Sydney 2000.

Brazil's Yane Marques held on to claim the bronze medal.
